Gary, of Baltimore, who came to Canton Friday by the invitation of Presidentslect McKinley, left at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon. A few moments before his departure for the east he authorlzed the United Associated Presses to

CANTON, O., Feb. 20.—It can be stated on the highest authority that J. J. Mc-Cook, of New York, has not been offered the position of attorney general. That place is still open as is the position of postmaster general. It is likely, however, that Mr. McCook, whose title is captain, not colonel, will be offered within a week the portfolio of the department of justice, and that James A. Gary, of Baltimore, may be chosen for the post office department. Maj. McKinley was a great deal better Friday morning and went out for a drive at 9 o'clock. The weather is superb.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.-Col. John J. McCook said Friday that all the news he has of his alleged selection for the attorney generalship is contained in the press dispatches from Canton. He asserted that he had received no intination direct or indirect that Maj. McKinley intends making him a member of his cabinet.

IN CONGRESS.

Several Appropriation Bills Are Pending in the Senate.

The General Deficiency and the Naval Bills Are Still in the House-No Hope of Action on the Bankruptcy Bill During This Session.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Only six more working days remain to the 54th congress and the condition of the appropriation bills will compel the senate to make up for the time lost dry civil and the naval bills will probably cause some debate. The president has so far approved the legislative, the consular and diplomatic, the military academy and the pension bills. The army bill is in conference and agricultural bill was agreed to in conference Saturday. The Indian is now in the senate and will probably not be passed before Monday night, the District of Columbia bill is on the calendar and will be called up as soon as the Indian appropriation bill is out of the way. This bill may lead to a protracted debate owing to a fight between electric light companies. The appropriations committee of the senate is still considering the post office, the sundry civil and the fortifications bill, all of which will be reported in two or three days. Of the remaining appropriation measures, the naval bill and the general deficiency bill are still in the house. The bankruptcy bill still maintains its way as the unfinished business, but will only afford an opportunity for a few speeches that the time will permit. There is no hope of action. Mr. Sherman has said that he will not again call up the arbitration treaty, and no more time will be taken up in consideration of that convention at this session. The house will occupy the recommittee of the whole, and then probably another day will be spent in going over the measure in open house. The passage of bills under suspension

Appeals to the Hellenic Race for a New Loan-All Europe Defied. ATHENS, Feb. 20. - A dispatch from Canea states that three of the great powers are in favor of a union between Crete and Greece.

It is reported that King George will appeal to the Hellenic race for a new loan to meet the expenses of the miliitary and naval preparations. A British ironclad has prevented the steamer Junon from embarking provisions in-

Notwithstanding this assurance fighting took place Sunday on the hills to the east of the town. The reply of the Mussulmans to the Christians' fire was very feeble and it could easily be seen that they could be compelled to abandon their positions if the Christians pressed them. Their gun practice was so very poor that it excited ridicule on board the ships.

After the main body of Greek troops had returned to Platania from Voukolis news arrived that 500 Turks and 500 Bashi Bazouks were attempting to advance from Canea, and that they were held in check in a defile by a force of 200 Cretans.

The Turks, when they learned of the approach of re-inforcements, took positions on the heights, and for three hours made a desperate defense. The Greek troops were all young men who had never seen service, but they fought with admirable courage. They drove the Turks from one position to another, and captured the towers of Ayah and Monkundra, and the barracks at Livadia, which they burned.

The Moslems retreated, taking with them three cannon. The Greeks pursued them to within a mile of Canea, and then retired to Platania. The Turkish loss is unknown, but numbers of wounded were taken into Canea. The Greeks suffered severely. Three

A WOMAN'S BODY.

What Its Neglect Leads to. Mrs. Chas. King's Experience.

A woman's body is the repository of the most delicate mechanism in the whole realm of creation, and yet most women will let it get out of order and keep out of order, just as if it were of no consequence. Their backs ache and heads throb and burn; they have wandering pains, now here and now there. They experience extreme lassitude, that don't-care and want-to-be-left-alone feeling, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness and the blues, yet they will go about their work until they can scarcely stand on their poor swollen feet, and do nothing to help themselves. These are the positive fore-runners of serious womb complications, and unless given immediate attention will result in untold misery, if not death. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will, beyond the question of a doubt, relieve all this trouble before it becomes serious, and it has cured many after their troubles had become chronic. The Compound should be taken immediately upon the appearance of any of these symptoms above enumerated. It is a vegetable tonic which invigorates and stimulates the entire female organism, and will produce the same beneficial results in the case of any sick woman as it did with MRS. CHAS. KING, 1815 Rosewood St., Philadelphia, Pa., whose letter we attach:

"I write these few lines, thanking you for restoring my health. For twelve years I suffered with pains impossible to describe. I had bearing-down feelings, backache, burning sensation in my stomach, chills, headache, and always had black specks before my eyes. I was afraid to stay alone, for I sometimes had four and five fainting spells a day. I had several doctors and tried many patent medicines. Two years ago I was so bad that I had to go to bed and have a trained nurse. Through her, I commenced to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I never had anything give me the relief that it has. I have taken eight bottles, and am now enjoying the best of health again. I can truthfully say it has cured me."

Though the term, "The curse of the coast," was often applied to him, there is little doubt but that his beard was a false one, and worn only on occasions when he was willing to be recognized as the pirate captain. Undoubtedly he often visited cities and plantations on our southern coast and there laid his plans for a raid, which soon followed.

The fact as related in regard to his kidnaping negroes from planters of one section and selling them to those of another is traditional. So, also, is the San Domingo episode in which the reader first makes the acquaintance of Black American revolution. True, the time-worn floors that were pressed in turn by the feet of a Cornwallis and a Washington have been replaced by others, but underneath the sills and girders that supported it rest to-day as stanch and true as they did when placed there a century and a quarter ago, and testify to the endurance of Carolina's pine.

I like him well, and Fannie, she's a treasure. Do you know, papa, think our Clarence is in love with Fannie."

"So, so. Well then, if Fannie be in love with him, I am well pleased. John Loyd's dollars and these broad acres would go well together; but I would have my daughter make a brilliant match. Remember the lands and slaves of the Hills, with few exceptions, all go to the eldest son. It is following the English custom of our ancestors; true, we generally find an odd penny to dower our daughters with, and the youngest son we make a man of letters, a preacher, or a doctor, or put him in the army. Tom chose the army, and will, I think, in time, do credit to it-but you, my daughter, must marry a man of wealth."

A POET'S KINDNESS.

Eugene Field's Way of Helping the Un-

A story has been going the rounds of the newspapers, which is partly true; but it puts facts in a false light, as stories always do when only half | Gomez. told. It was originally printed several years ago, and ran as follows: Mrs. Field had laid by enough money to pay the quarterly installment upon Mr. Field's life insurance, and she handed him the sum to make the payment. On his way downtown he met a man who had a large collection of butterflies, consisting of 800 specimens, which so fascinated Mr. Field that he forgot all about the life insurance, and immediately purchased the entire collection.

The truth is that Mr. Field did star out to pay for or buy something which was needed, but not to make a life insurance payment. Also, he did meet an old man with a collection of butterflies. The old man was a gentleman he knew, a friend who had lost his wife and two children. Besides, the week before, the house with all its contents had been destroyed by fire. The man was absolutely without means, home, or friends. He happened to have the butterflies left, as at the time of the fire they were in the house of a friend. When Mr. Field returned, he

"I did not want the butterflies, but I had to give that poor old man the money, and he would not take it unless I accepted the collection."

It was simply one more instance of the fact that the gentle-hearted poet could not leave a friend in misery while Nicholas.

What the Vatican Contains.

On the whole, the vatican may be divided into seven portions. These are the pontifical residence, the Sistine and Pauline chapels, the picture-galleries, the library, the museums of sculpture and archaeology, the outbuildings, including the barracks of the Swiss guards, and, lastly, the gardens with the pope's casino. Of these the Sistine chapel, the galleries and museums and the library are incomparably the most important. The name "Sistine" is derived from Sixtus IV., as has been said. The library was founded by Nicholas V., whose love of books was almost equal to his passion for building. The galleries are representative of Raphael's work, which predominates to such an extent that the paintings of almost all other artists are of secondary importance, precisely as Michelangelo filled the Sistine chapel with himself. As for the museums, the objects they contain have been accumulated by many popes, but their existence ought, perhaps, be chiefly be attributed to Julius II. and Leo X., the principal representatives of the Rovere and Medici families .- F. > The Death Warrant Placed in the Hands of Sheriff Plummer-The Death Watch Appointed for the Condemned Men by Judge Helm, of Newport.

> COVINGTON, Ky., Feb. 19.—Jackson and Walling are both to end their miserable existence at the same moment. Neither of them will have an opportunity to confess after the death of the other that he, the dead man, was solely to blame for the murder of poor Pearl Bryan. The murderers will have to tell all they know before the fatal 20th of March, so that each may affirm or deny the tale related by the other or forever hold his peace.

Sheriff Jule Plummer, of Camphell county, Ky., has returned from Lexington, Ky., where he inspected the scaffold lately used for the execution of Laughlin at Brookville, Ky., and which is known as the "Mud Dauber." from having been built for the execution of Smith, who was known as the "Mud Dauber." Mr. Plummer found that this scaffold had but a single drop, and that the two men could not, therefore, be executed upon it at the same time.

He will therefore have a second scaffold built on the same pattern and has announced his determination of having both men swung off at the same time. The death warrant, which was delivered to Mr. Plummer Thursday by Wolcott, a Frankfort newspaper man who acted as Gov. Bradley's agent, provides that both men shall die the same day, but does not specify that they shall die at the same hour. There has been much speculation as to which would be swung off first, and as to what the second man would have to say, but this is setiled by Sheriff Plummer's decision.

Passes the Trocha and Gets Between Weyler and Havana-Captures a Fort. KEY WEST, Feb. 19.—Private information has been received in this city of the whereabouts of Gen. He has succeeded in sliding by Gen. Weyler, and is

He advanced on the fort at midnight, and when he saw he was discovered by the Spanish, who fired on him, he ordered the cavalry to charge.

They swooped down on the fort and captured it, and the whole army went through the trocha. All of the arms and ammunition of the fort were captured. The army then continued the march and was encamped at Veguite when the news was sent to this city by a courier. His order in taking the fort was to use the machete only and the calvary made a gallant fight.

SECRETARY HERBERT

Reviews the War Vessels of Admiral Bunce's Squadron.

Thousands of Strangers in the City to Witness the Event-The Medal of Honor Presented to Seaman Creelman-The Naval Officers Banquetted.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Feb. 19.—Charleston was thronged throughout Thursday by thousands of strangers from South Carolina and the neighboring states who had come to the city to see Adm. Bunce's fleet that has been blockading this port, pass in review before Secretary of the Navy Herbert. Among the special guests of the city for the day were Gov. W. H. Ellerbee, of South Carolina, all the state officers, senators and legislators.

Secretary Herbert and a party of friends arrived in the city from Washington in a special car at 6 o'clock Thursday morning. They were met at the depot by a committee consisting of Mayor Smith and other city officials. As the secretary stepped from his car a salute of 27 guns was fired by detachments from the first division South Carolina naval reserves under Capt. Dubos. party was then escorted to the Charleston hotel, where breakfast was served. They were subsequently escorted to the custom house dock, where they boarded the revenue cutter Colfax. The secretary was saluted when he boarded the ships, all the sailors bring drawn up in man-ofwar fashion. The day was ideal one. the city it had been so warm that wraps were uncomfortable but on the water top-coats were not out of place. At the entrance to the jetties an unforseen trouble arose. The cutter and its train of pleasure craft ran full into a heavy fog, and when the flagship was picked up in the mist Adm. Bunce received a summons from the secretary and came alongside in his cutter. The moment he stepped aboard his pennant was run up and the little cutter became the flagship. The admiral was told by the secretary that he desired to board the battleship Maine to present Seaman W. J. Creelman with a medal awarded him for his distinguished conduct during the storm. So with both Secretary Herbert and Adm. Bunce aboard the cutter once more got under way. Capt. Crowninshields, of the Maine, was hailed and informed that the two officials would board his ship with their party. The transfer was made without trouble, the jackies and officers receiving their superior officers with the customary salute and formality. With the ships crew drawn up on deck Capt. Crowningshields gave the orders for naval cadet Gherardi, his gunboat crew and seaman W. J. Creelman to step forward. Addressing them Secretary Herbert spoke of their gallant conduct during the storm.

They had, he said, made him proud of the navy; and then singling out Creelman the secretary presented him with the gold medal and an envelope containing $100, with a few words in commendation of his gallant deed. The official ceremonies on board the ships having been concluded the officials attended a banquet at the Charleston hotel. Secretary Herbert responded to the toast "Our Navy."

HINTS TO HUSBANDS. Suggestions Conductve to a Quiet Life in the New Woman Era. To begin the day well is half the battle, and a husband's first duty should be to rise quietly at five in the morning so as not to break in upon the wife's slumbers until he has prepared the breakfast. She will then awake in good temper, and if the coffee is properly settled she may even reward you by saying so.

Pack the children off to school im mediately after breakfast-before vou do the dishes—as nothing is so apt to upset a satisfactory beginning as the chatter of my lady's brood while she is reading the morning papers.

Be particular that absolute quiet i preserved in the house during mad am's hour of thought after breakfast and have her bicycle cleaned and ready for her morning spin at ten sharp.

While she is gone sweep, air and dust the house, but by no inadvertence dis turb the papers that litter her desk. Nothing so displeases madam as to find her desk in order-it isn't mannish, you know.

When she returns, if her eye is black and she walks with a limp, say nothing but be silently sympathetic and place the arnica bottle in a conspicuous place on her bureau. Don't let her see you do it, though, and don't follow her in. That is one of the times when it were well for you that she be alone.

Hold yourself in readiness at a moment's call to write at her dictation the speech that she will deliver at the primary or convention. If her grammar is abominable, don't mention it in silence. Do not try to fathom her logic as you value your sanity-go it blind.

If you want a half day off, say oace a week, preface your request with the remark that Jones told you that if he could make as good a speech as she made the night before he would never stop until he became a United States senator at least.

When she becomes impervious to that species of dope have a printer strike off some flattering notice of her remarks, label them as clips from some far-off, nonexistant newspaper and mail them to her. She will never notice that the reverse side of the clips is blank, or, if she does, suggest that the editor probably received the copy of her speech at the last moment and struck off a supplement.

Flatter her when she is elated. Keep your mouth shut when she is depressed.

Ask her how you shall vote. Then vote the other way.

You will then have peace and a quiet life and the grim satisfaction of having cast at least one vote for a principle.-N. Y. World.

FENNESSEE CENTENNIAL

Patriotic Celebration of the 100th Anniversary of the State.

A Great Object Lesson, Calling Attention to the Bountiful Resources of Tennessee-Not a Local or Sectional Enterprise.

The prime object of the Tennessee Centennial and International exposition to be held at Nashville from May 1 to October 30, 1897, is to celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of the state in a spirit of patriotism; to illustrate the progress that has been made in civilization, and at the same time to call attention to the bountiful resources of the field, the hills and the forests of Tennessee. The fact that the state produces, to some extent, every crop reported in the United States census, and contains, iron, coal, marble, granite, hardwood timber and phosphate rock for fertilizers in unlimited quantities; that the agricultural crops never fail and seldom vary, and that the climate is perfect, with a mean temperature of 58 degrees, should induce immigration from other states and from foreign countries to such an extent that Tennessee will take the place in the list of states in which she properly belongs in point of population and commercial importance. It is to call attention to her natural advantages and resources and lead to their greater development of wealth as well as to show the progress that has been made in the arts and sciences, that this great object lesson is to be given.

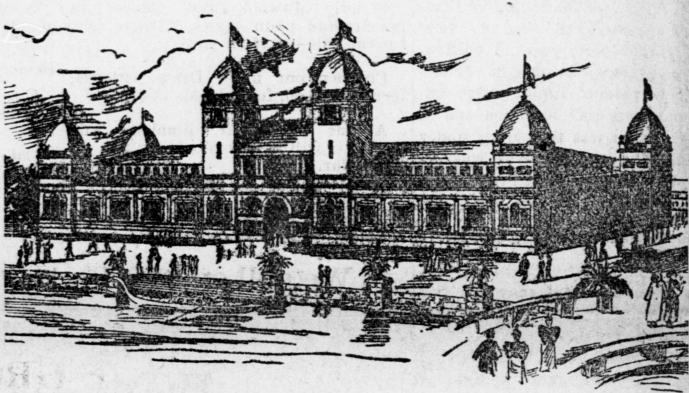

It is a practical way of celebrating a great event, and will enable the people of the state to present at one and the same time their historical record of 100 years, and to give their reasons for believing that Tennessee is an inviting but correct it as you write and suffer field for the investment of capital and a pleasant country in which all may Indeed, from the clean condition of the roadways and grass plats one might with reason conclude that all inside as well as outside was in readiness for public scrutiny. The grounds seemed to me to be admirably laid out both for convenience in getting about and for the best presentation of the architectural effects. The stretches of lawn which spring will dress in living green will be a feature which was much lacking at the world's fair, and will add a repose so much needed in a white city, whose architecture is more or less rigidly classic. Once upon a time there lived a serious young man. He was serious all the way through. As in some streams his depth revealed itself at the very top. No light waves played upon the surface. He seemed to have no surface. He was all inner soul.

This young man loved seriously an idle young woman. He saw her first as Naujok's St. Cecelia in a church tableau. He had leved the picture. He now loved the young woman more. He saw in her face much that he had not seen in the picture. She parted her hair in the middle and she had a St. Cecelia nose, so that the young man did not observe that there was also much in the picture that was not in her face. She could not even play the piano before which she had posed.

The idle young woman loved seriousy nothing whatever. Least of all did she love the serious young man. If he had no surface, she was all surface, like a brook, all waves full of light and brightness. The young man was attracted by the waves and imagined a depth beneath them. She was repelled by the darkness of his depth and could imagine no waves upon its surface. The Page Wire Fence In Bourbon.

MILLERSBURG, KY., May 4, '96. MESSRS. MILLER & COLLINS, Agents, Paris, Kentucky. Gentlemen :- I have had the Page

Woven Wire Fence on my farm for about eighteen months and am well pleased with it. It has proved to be all that is claimed for it. It turns all kinds of stock and is as tight as it was the day it was put up and has stood some severe tests. A horse of one of my neighbors fell across the fence a few months ago and was not taken off for several hours but when taken off the fence went back to its place all right with the exception of a few staples. During the storm of April 24th a good-sized tree was blown across the fence and bent it down to the ground. As soon as the tree was cast off the fence went up all right and was as good as ever with the exception of one broken wire and a few staples out

I am so well pleased with the fence that I am going to put up more of it Respectfully, right away. WM. BECRAPT. (5my-tf)

REFORM BADLY NEEDED. Indiana's Governor Discusses the Enforcement of Road Laws. Good roads are essential to our highest development socially, intellectually and financially. Many counties in our few hundred flowering plants or early state, actuated by a commendable spirit of progress, are rapidly improving the highways. In the near future some of our counties will have a complete system of free gravel roads. The main thoroughfares in these counties, having been graveled and received by the county commissioners, are kept in repair at the county's expense. The supervisor, being thus relieved from care of the main thoroughfares, is enbled to concentrate the labor and tax at his disposal upon the lateral roads; hence all will soon be improved. The economy in road improvement will soon be demonstrated by the fact that the counties having the best roads will maintain them at less cost than the mud roads, with all their inconveniences, are maintained in their wretched condiable-bodied men, together with the road tax, gives to the road supervisors of our state the expenditure, in money and labor, of a vast sum. Much of this is wasted by reason of incompetent management. The railroad tax for highway improvement, in some road districts of our state, is so manipulated by the road supervisor that the money inures more to his benefit than the improvement of the thoroughfares. In some instances in our state, a brokerage business is carried on, and money is made out of trafficing in this road tax.

While some of our road laws need reforming, the manner of their execution needs revolution. When competence is made the test in selecting supervisors, and tax-payers see that they discharge their duties, we will find some improvement in our highways without additional tax .-- From the Inaugural Address of Gov. Mount, of Indiana.

Cleanliness Will Remove Most of th Causes Which Produce It.

PROPAGATING TANK.

On, Can Be Made at Home at a Really Trifling Expense.

Most farmers, particularly those raising early vegetables, sometimes wish they had a good propagating tank for starting cuttings. Many an odd dollar can be picked up in the spring with a tomato and lettuce plants. A little sand table, with a gentle heat, would be very handy in the house. A hotbed may be inconvenient or troublesome and a small greenhouse out of the question. Such a propagating tank suitable for a window can be easily made by any tinsmith or gas fitter. Have the gas man join up with "elbows" three pieces of common inch gas pipe; two pieces, a a, three inches long and one piece, b, five feet long. Joined up, they would look like Fig. 1. Have a zinc box made five feet long, two feet wide and six inches deep and made water-tight. At one end, in the middle, cut two holes, so that the piece of gas pipe can be laid in the box, resting on the bottom and projecting two inches beyond the box. Fig. 2 shows how the pipe is placed on the box. The openings where the pipe enters the box are to be soldered up water-tight. The box is then placed on a table with the pipe end of the box projecting beyond the table as seen in Fig. 3. The box is then filled with water, covering the top of the pipe as shown by the dotted line, c. Place in the water pieces of brick and on the brick lay pieces of roofing slate to form a loose slate top two inches from the top of the box and half an inch above the top of the water, as shown at d. Leave a small hole in one corner of the slate to supply water to the tanks. Fill the whole top of the box over the slate with sand, e. In this sand cuttings can be raised, as the tank, when in operation, will be full of warm water, giving a gentle bottom heat for the cuttings.

A TERRAPIN'S LOVE OF HOME,

Times, It Returns to Its Abode.

Paoli, Ind. In 1840 Miss Davie Peele, of that city, was ten years old. While playing in the woods one day she came upon one of the creatures and took it home. Its curious ways pleased her and she put it in a box to keep as a pet. The little prisoner refused food and chafed at confinement. As the young lady was about to release the terrapin some one suggested that she carve her name in its shell. She did this, adding the date. The little animal was let go.

Ten years later Miss Peele married County Clerk Wible, of Orange county. One day she found herself in the vicinity where she had first discovered the terrapin. To her great surprise she again found the little fellow within a few feet of where she first saw it. Her name and the date were as plain as when she put them there.
